

"Pray for..." and "In Memory of..."

We never forget the people we love. These website pages are a wonderful way to remember those among us who have had or live with dementia. These pages are a sacred space where you to share with your family and friends, especially when they live far away.

You may know of someone who has memory difficulties or the person who is caring them and you wish you could do something to help. You can - by using the "Pray for..." page, you will be doing a great act of kindness because others will pray for them too.

The people who have used the site have found great comfort from it.
